

Bristow, Oklahoma

Redevelopment Opportunity

The City of Bristow is interested in attracting commercial, manufacturing and light industrial development to a site north of downtown near the Route 66/I-44 interchange.

Site Assets

This area has several assets that can leverage economic development in the area:

- Highway – located at Interstate 44 and Route 66 interchange provides high visibility and ease of transportation for commuting and shipping needs. I-44 will be expanded from 4 to 6 lanes in 2019.
- Rail – an active railroad runs through the site, which has the potential to support development with shipping needs.
- Airport – a recent $1 million investment in the local Jones Memorial Airport In 2017 will increase air travel in the area and support businesses that need convenient airport access.
- Utilities – access to electric and water.
- Location – the site is within 25 miles of existing aerospace, advanced manufacturing and energy industry clusters.
- Economic Development - area has a pro-business climate and a general low cost for doing business.

Regional Economic Development

Commercial and light industrial use in this location aligns with the Tulsa region's 2018-2022 Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS)². The CEDS outlines economic development goals including the following commitments to attract new development:

- Make investments to attract a young professional workforce and invest in local quality of life for all older generations.
- Assist in the development and expansion of transportation and utility infrastructure as needed for industrial areas.
- Educate the local workforce to serve a range of economic sectors.

Redevelopment Considerations

Parcels available for redevelopment are part of the Wilcox Oil Superfund site. EPA Region 6 is working closely with Oklahoma Department of Environmental Quality (ODEQ) to plan and implement investigation and future cleanup activities. Future development should be coordinated closely with EPA Region 6 and ODEQ to ensure consistency with the site's clean-up and operation and maintenance.

EPA has set a national goal of returning formerly contaminated lands to long-term sustainable and productive reuse. EPA works with local government, community organizations, business, residents and partners to consider the reuse of Superfund sites in the cleanup process. Liability Protections

The 2002 Brownfield Amendments to the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA) provides important protections that could apply to prospective purchasers of parcels within the Wilcox Oil Superfund Site. Prospective purchasers who meet certain statutory criteria and comply with ongoing obligations can qualify for liability protections. EPA can provide additional information to interested parties.
